Strategic Social Security Planning

Did you know the average household could be leaving $100,000+ on the table by claiming Social Security at the wrong time? For many couples, the difference between an optimal and suboptimal strategy can exceed $200,000 over a lifetime.

At Horizon Legacy Law, we provide in-depth educational guidance on Social Security timing and dynamics as part of your broader retirement and estate plan. While we do not file claims or act as financial advisors, we help you understand the rules, model scenarios, and coordinate with your team so your claiming decision supports—rather than undermines—your long-term legal and financial goals.

Key Dynamics We Help You Understand

Timing & Delayed Retirement Credits

- Full Retirement Age (FRA) vs. claiming as early as 62 (with permanent reductions) or delaying to age 70 (8% annual increase)
- Break-even analysis: When does waiting pay off based on your health, family longevity, and other income?

Spousal, Survivor & Divorced Spouse Strategies

- Restricted application (if born before 1954) and deemed filing rules
- Survivor benefits: How a higher-earning spouse's delayed claim can dramatically increase a widow(er)'s benefit
- Divorced spouse benefits: Eligibility even if remarried, under certain conditions

Coordination with Other Income & Taxes

- How Social Security interacts with pensions, 401(k)/IRA withdrawals, and Required Minimum Distributions (RMDs)
- Taxation of benefits (up to 85% taxable depending on combined income)
- Medicare premiums and IRMAA surcharges triggered by higher income years

Our Educational Process

1. Discovery Meeting: We review your Social Security earnings record (you pull it from ssa.gov/myaccount), health history, family longevity, other retirement assets, and estate planning goals.
2. Scenario Modeling: We walk through multiple "what-if" claiming ages and strategies using publicly available tools and our experience, showing projected lifetime benefits and how each option affects your overall plan.
3. Integration Report: A clear, written summary (not advice) showing how Social Security fits with your estate documents, tax picture, and income needs. We flag issues for your financial advisor or CPA.
4. Ongoing Support: Free updates as laws change (e.g., recent Fairness Act updates) and coordination during the actual filing process.

Common Questions We Address

- Should I claim at 62 to "get mine while I can," or wait?
- How do I maximize benefits if my spouse has a much higher earnings record?
- What happens to my benefits if I continue working part-time?
- How does claiming affect my heirs or special-needs planning?

Example: A couple both age 62 with average earnings might increase combined lifetime benefits by $85,000–$150,000+ by having the higher earner delay to 70 while the lower earner claims spousal benefits strategically. Every situation is unique—that's why personalized education matters.

Basic Financial Coaching for a Confident Retirement

Retirement brings freedom—but also new responsibilities: managing withdrawals so your money lasts, navigating healthcare costs, and making tax-smart decisions. Our basic financial coaching program empowers you with knowledge and practical tools, always in coordination with your trusted financial professionals.

Important: We are not investment advisors. Our coaching focuses on education, goal-setting, budgeting frameworks, and understanding how legal/estate decisions impact your finances. We refer complex investment or product questions to your CFP®, CPA, or other qualified advisors.

What Our Coaching Covers

Sustainable Income Planning

- The “bucket strategy”: short-term cash, intermediate bonds, long-term growth—matched to your risk tolerance and time horizon
- Understanding sequence-of-returns risk and guardrails for withdrawals (e.g., 4% rule variations)
- Coordinating Social Security, pensions, and portfolio draws to minimize taxes and maximize longevity

Healthcare & Longevity Costs

- Medicare vs. Medigap vs. Medicare Advantage—how to choose and budget for premiums, deductibles, and out-of-pocket maximums
- Long-term care planning: insurance vs. self-funding vs. hybrid policies vs. Medicaid asset protection trusts (legal coordination)
- Inflation protection: How rising healthcare and living costs affect your plan over 20–30+ years

Tax-Efficient & Behavioral Coaching

- RMD strategies, QCDs (Qualified Charitable Distributions), Roth conversions, and tax-bracket management
- Debt payoff in retirement (mortgage, credit cards, reverse mortgages pros/cons)
- Behavioral finance: Avoiding common pitfalls like panic selling, lifestyle creep, or gifting that jeopardizes your plan

How Coaching Works

1. Complimentary Discovery Call: 30 minutes to assess your current situation, goals, and concerns.
2. Personalized Action Plan: A written roadmap (3–6 months) with specific educational topics, budgeting templates, and questions to ask your financial team.
3. 1:1 Sessions or Group Workshops: Flexible format—virtual or in-person. Many clients prefer 4–6 focused sessions.
4. Ongoing Check-Ins: Quarterly “tune-ups” to adjust as life (and markets) change. Included with many estate planning packages.

What Clients Say

"The coaching sessions demystified RMDs and showed me how to use QCDs to support my church while lowering my tax bill. I feel in control for the first time in years." — Dr. Harold P., Retired Physician, Age 71, Denver, CO

"Calvin's team helped my wife and me create a simple monthly budget that accounts for travel, grandkids, and healthcare. We're spending with confidence instead of worry." — Tom & Susan R., Age 69 & 67, Austin, TX
